

Documentary Showcase on Women Empowerment

The purpose of this panel is to see how the media and film makers are documenting pathways to women empowerment. In this session, we plan to showcase short documentaries on women who have struggled against odds to reach somewhere; and, and who can be our role models for the generations to come.

The floor will be open to question-and-answer after the showing of the documentaries and the audience and producers will be able to engage in a discussion.

The requirements for the video documentaries are as follows:

- Documentary makers are invited to send a two to three-minute initial preview/clip of the documentary for review by 8 September 2014.
- Those selected will be required to submit a 10—15 minute-long documentary in .mp4 by 3 November 2014.
